

Teaser_translation deepI

Frame, the museums of Strasbourg and the museums of Aquitaine in Bordeaux present Boogie Woogie, from the museums a transatlantic and sonic journey against racism. Against racism

00.11.9

Have you ever been racist?

The way they behave, it's not good.

If he bought the slaves at a high price, why do they mistreat them?

With the students of the Collège Solignac in Strasbourg and the students of the Collège Édouard Vaillant in Bordeaux,

How do you want to decolonize if we don't have the courage to present what was the historical fact?

00.41.5

The museums of Strasbourg and Bordeaux present

Boogie-woogie from the museums.

A transatlantic and sonic journey.

Against racism.

Have you ever been racist?

The way she behaves, it's not good.

If they bought the slaves at a high price, why did they mistreat them?

With the students of the Solignac middle school in Strasbourg and the students of the Édouard Vaillant middle school in Bordeaux.

01.09.9

How do you want to decolonize if we don't have the courage to present what was the historical fact?

Listen during the On the Mississippi festival in Alsace, on the soundcloud of the Eurométropole of Strasbourg and during the night of museums.

Acceptance is not a campaign plan sometimes, it's just a way to move on to the next day. There you go, it's not easy.